6409 BISHOP'S PLACE . . . ST. LOUIS HILLS

DRIVE OUT ON HAMPTON TO EICHELBERGER (5400 SOUTH) THEN WEST TWO BLOCKS TO CHILDRESS (SOUTH OF FRANCIS PARK), SOUTH TWO BLOCKS ON CHILDRESS TO BISHOP'S PLACE.

This utility-wise floor plan is incorporated into five buildings now under construction in the 6400 block of Bishops Place, situated in the Estates section of beautiful St. Louis Hills.

Each building has its own individual and interesting elevation. All three bedrooms have double sliding door closets over six feet in length. The large tile kitchen includes a bright corner breakfast area. A large overhang shelters the twenty-one foot front porch, and to the rear is an airy screened-in porch approached through French doors in the dining room.

The attached two-car garage is directly accessible from the kitchen. Besides the bath shown, there is a half bath in the basement rathskeller area.

Typical of its quality features are its mahogany slab doors, aluminum sash, clear red oak floors, marble sills, formica counter tops, garbage disposal, copper water supply, gutters, and downspouts. Structurally speaking, it features twelve inch reinforced, waterproofed foundation, thirteen inch masonry walls, and exclusive use of fir dimensional lumber.

Of somewhat similar layout, with one-car garages are three more homes now nearing completion in the 6000 block of Childress Avenue.

From its modest beginning back in 1924, when Norman Schuermann constructed four homes in Marvin Park, the Schuermann Building and Realty Company has grown into one of the outstanding firms of home builders in the nation.

Today over 6500 Schuermann-built homes attest the vision and idealism of the company's founder. Dozens of communities in north and northwest St. Louis are Schuermann-built and Schuermann-founded.

Thousands of families have tasted real living for the first time as a result of Schuermann economies in building which have been passed on to the home-buyer.

Achievement

A Schuermann-Built Home in Lovely Hanley Hills

Schuermann-built communities are attractive to the eye, and in them live the substantial citizens who are the backbone of our Nation. Let anyone drive through any of the communities listed on the opposite page. See the well-kept lawns, the attractive shrubbery, the care with which the homes are kept up. Yes, it is a source of pride to be able to mention a Schuermann-built community and say, "That's where we live."

But for the home-buyer, the really important fact is that Schuermann's extensive facilities make possible greater values in attractive substantial homes in well-planned communities.

Most recent Schuermann subdivisions have been Riverview Terrace, Nordell Hills, and now being built . . . Hanley Hills Fifth Addition.

★ IT'S YOUR DUTY TO YOURSELF and COUNTRY TO...

Read these FACTS

Public Housing Doesn't Help Our Neediest Families

The government's own statistics show that public housing projects today contain thousands of middle and high income families, well able to afford their own shelter without a government subsidy—the bottom income families have been disregarded.

Public Housing Won't Clear Slums

Since many families that live in real slums don't have the income to "qualify" for admittance into the new government housing, these unfortunates are simply crowded into other areas.

Public Housing Costs More Than Private Building

A recent survey revealed that public housing units cost much more than similar ones built by private builders—in some cases as much as 43 per cent more.

Public Housing Is Inflationary

Public housing competes with private builders in bidding up the cost of manpower and material. This causes increased building cost and fans the fires of inflation.

MANY CITIES ALL OVER THE COUNTRY HAVE VOTED DOWN PUBLIC HOUSING . . .

about Housing!

Public Housing Boosts Real Estate Taxes

Public housing projects are, in effect, tax free, thereby increasing the taxes on other property in the cities where they are located. This means you pay twice—once through federal income levies, and again through additional real estate taxes.

Public Housing Spurs Political Favoritism

Time after time, instead of aiding the underprivileged, public housing has been used to expand bureaucratic power and political favor.

Public Housing Won't Relieve the Housing Shortage

Public housing siphons labor and material away from the private home builders who are building more units with the same amount of materials and manpower.
